New Composition Commissioned

OUR COMMISSION

December 6, 1917...A date that has become a sad part of our history in this great city of Halifax.

It was the day that the French cargo ship SS Mont-Blanc, carrying explosives from New York and destined for France, accidentally collided with the Norwegian ship, the SS Imo. The resulting explosion saw a large area of both Halifax and Dartmouth levelled. The pressure wave snapped trees, bent iron rails, demolished buildings, grounded vessels, and scattered fragments of the Mont-Blanc for kilometres.

Almost 2000 innocent people were killed and almost 9000 others were injured.

The tragic explosion and the unfortunate events that followed for weeks afterward became known as The Halifax Explosion. A disaster recognized now as the largest man-made explosion prior to the development of nuclear weapons.

The Second Chances Community Band and the Halifax Community Band Festival have begun the process of commissioning an original work for concert band whose world premiere performance will take place at our 5th annual Halifax Community Band Festival in May of 2018. We very much hope you will be able to join us to solemnly recognize the lives that were lost, the bravery of those who survived, and the kindness of those cities who came to our aid in the days that followed.

Our Ensembles

Quality music education, at any level, depends a lot upon the individual who is teaching the students. Many musicians in Nova Scotia, whether amateur or professional, can point to specific individuals who helped guide them on their path to becoming life-long players. Ten years ago, the province of Nova Scotia lost two of its finest and most influential music educators and the two levels of performance groups at our festival are named in their memory.

The Ron MacKay “Music for Life” Beginner Band

Ron MacKay retired from the Armed Forces Band in 1966 and began a career in music education as an instrumental music teacher in Truro. As director of the Cobequid Educational Centre Symphonic Band and its feeder programs from grades 4 through 12 he developed one of the more prominent school bands in the Atlantic Provinces and in Canada. He held positions as conductor of the Saint Mary’s University Concert Band, St. F.X. University Wind Ensemble, the Scotia Wind Ensemble, Dalhousie University Symphonic Wind Ensemble, the conductor of the Halifax Concert Band and the Scotia Brass Ensemble.

Ron spent much of his time arranging and composing music for young bands with over one hundred published works for band including 8 commissioned works.
